LGM Company Profile

Products

To meet the needs of a demanding market particularly within the industrial, marine and hazardous area sectors, we offer from one single point of contact an extensive range of linear heat detection, fire & gas detectors, bells, beacons, hooters, sounders, and sirens. The next few pages tell you more about our products and markets.

Technical Help

Our website provides a wealth of information to help you choose the right product to make every project a success. In addition, our office based technical experts are just a phone call away.

Quality

Above all, internationally recognised product quality approvals are essential. The products we sell are supported with third-party approvals such as LPCB, VdS, ATEX, IECEx, UL, MED and FM.

International Sales

LGM Products Ltd is dedicated to the international markets. With over 25 years of experience exporting all over the world, more than 80% of our sales go to overseas customers.

LGM Company Profile

Fire detection

Addressable and conventional fire detection systems for industrial and commercial use.

Audio visual signalling

A wide selection of audio-visual warning devices including sirens, bells, airhorns, sounders, beacons and combination units.

Hazardous area

Smoke detectors, flame detectors, explosion proof and intrinsically safe sounder beacons, linear heat detection systems, push button call points and plated assemblies.
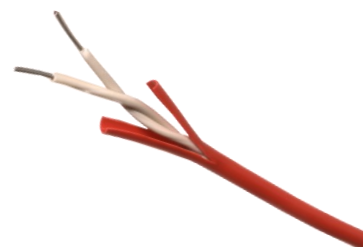

Marine and offshore

Beacons, smoke detectors, call points, fire control panels, sounders and a range of other products that are marine approved and suitable for a variety of onshore and offshore applications.

Signaline

Fire and water linear detection systems, made in the UK and internationally approved. Suitable for a vast range of applications

Signaline

LGM Products is proud to offer our own range of fire and water linear detection systems

made in the UK and internationally approved

Signaline Linear Heat Detection systems provide our customers with a cost-effective and fast reacting solution for the world's most vigorous fire detection challenges.

Signaline HD is our analogue linear heat detector which enters alarm when a significant rise in temperature is detected. Signaline HD linear heat detectors are approved to EN54-5 by VdS.

Signaline FT is our fixed temperature linear heat detector which triggers an alarm when the cable reaches a predetermined temperature. Signaline FT is UL and FM approved.

We also provide clips and extras designed to accompany our Signaline HD and Signaline FT linear heat detectors.

Signaline ^{WATER} detection cable can be used to protect critical applications where equipment might be vulnerable to water ingress. Early detection of water can reduce or prevent costly downtime. It is a cost effective, reliable system which is easy to install and with up to 1km of cable per module. The flexible but tough detection cable acts as a sensor along its entire length.
